	Comprehension:
	Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow. In contemporary society, affluence can procure almost every imaginable luxury private aircraft, yachts, or fleets of cars, yet it remains powerless before the most invaluable possession: good health. Health constitutes the foundation of human existence, for only a vigorous body sustains a lucid mind, and together they enable meaningful thought and purposeful action. Deprived of bodily fitness, neither intellectual brilliance nor noble achievement can be fully realised. The prerequisites of health are manifold. Nutrition ranks foremost, but contrary to popular belief, it is not confined to non-vegetarian diets; balanced vegetarian regimens have proven equally efficacious. Beyond food, the human body demands fresh air, uncontaminated water, regular physical exercise, and restorative sleep. Neglect of any of these diminishes vitality. Physicians caution against practices inimical to health. Smoking, for instance, predisposes individuals to frequent and serious illnesses. Overindulgence in food likewise weakens the body; while thinness does not always signify wellness, excessive corpulence invariably compromises it, hence medical advice urging moderation and avoidance of fatty foods. Irregular habits, erratic meals, late nights, and disrupted routines further erode both body and mind. Youth especially must cultivate disciplined habits, for strong constitutions build early safeguard against the inevitable infirmities of age. Thus, health is not merely the absence of disease but the harmonious balance of nourishment, exercise, rest, and restraint, a balance essential for happiness, efficiency, and longevity.

	SubQuestion No : 13
Q.13	What is the central theme of the passage?
Ans	 1. Health is indispensable for a balanced, meaningful life.

	 3. Exercise alone guarantees longevity.
	 4. Wealth provides ultimate security.
